Innovation

It is time to integrate private sector know-how into the beach wrack recycling conundrum. Are you a bio-waste recycling entrepreneur? Or maybe you represent one of the municipalities looking for solutions. If so, join us and share your expertise, experiences and ideas. Help us to bring beach wrack into the region's bioeconomy.

Network

This is an opportunity for private companies to establish useful contacts for marine bio-waste management and recycling. Expect a platform for discussion, cooperation and a place where public & private actors can build trust. Join us to build a regional network of expertise.

Action

The aim is to find sustainable and realistic recycling solutions for all communities facing problematic amounts of beach wrack. Turn discussions into concrete actions during the virtual-breakout rooms.
